

Cascade Clamps

Cascade Clamp - Cascade Manufacturing Company was established in Portland, Oregon in 1943. They started out as a small machine shop initially employing 4 individuals. Sales for their first year of operation amounted to about 60 thousand dollars. The very first recorded sales revenues involved the machining and assembly of stainless-steel pipe fittings, valves and other components. Within five years of operation, the company had stretched to forty staff and their annual sales volume had risen to $330,000. Now, Cascade is among the top worldwide makers within the material handling industry.

Design and production of the company's original hydraulic cylinder allowed this young company to aggressively pursue new business opportunities. All through the final sixty years, the business of material handling has grown into a really complex area with Cascade proudly playing a part in its improvement. Cascade at present continues to develop as the premier provider of lift truck accessories and different associated items. The business feels confident in their potential to be able to continue to lead the way in the business by understanding buyer's needs in the future and remaining aggressive within the global market.

During the nineteen fifties, Cascade began to fabricate, design, and advertise its hydraulic attachments. A new facility was built in the year 1956, to accommodate all plant offices and operations in Portland, Oregon, which continues to be the company's current headquarters. Following 15 years of business, total employees reached 180 workers and sales had reached nearly 2.3 million dollars.

The next manufacturing plant was built in 1959 in Springfield, Norwalk. 1960 marked Cascade's preliminary transfer into the global world of the material handling industry as the company recognized interest in Australia, the Netherlands and England.

The business altered its name to Cascade Corporation in the year 1964. In the year 1965, Cascade went public with a preliminary offering of 200,000 shares of common stock. The company has expanded its manufacturing plants within the U.S. with locations in Springfield, Norwalk, Warner Robins, Georgia, Portland, Oregon. Cascade merchandise are made worldwide because of many subsidiary operations. In 1994, a new plant was completed in Almere, the Netherlands which is Cascade's European head office. This facility is designed to be the ultimate customer support centre.

Cascade further expanded their product base in 1996 and the year 1997 subsequent to acquiring five corporations, which included the Kenhar Corporation, the worldwide leader in blades.
